

Information provided to data subjects - contractual partners

Barrandov Studio, ID No.: 281 72 469, with registered office in Prague 5 - Hlubočepy, Kříženeckého nám. 322/5, Postal Code 15200 (hereinafter also referred to as the "Controller"), as a personal data controller within the meaning of Article 4 paragraph 7 of Regulation (EU) 2016/679 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 27 April 2016 on the protection of natural persons with regard to the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data, and repealing Directive 95/46/EC (General Data Protection Regulation), (hereinafter also referred to as "GDPR") in accordance with Article 13 GDPR, the following information is communicated to the data subjects concerned (hereinafter also referred to as "DS"):

The Controller processes personal data (hereinafter also referred to as "PD") of data subjects (persons with whom the Controller has concluded contract for the purpose of supplying goods, services or other performance), to the extent that the PD are listed on such contracts, and DS whose PD are processed for the purpose of exercising their rights and obligations under that contract.

The purpose of the processing of PD is necessity for the performance of the contract in question. The controller is therefore obliged to use the data on the basis of Art. 6/1(b) of the GDPR authorises the processing of the aforementioned PD without the consent of the DS.

The data subject will be processed by the Controller for the duration of the contract, but for a maximum period of 15 years ¹, for the purpose of protecting the legitimate interests of the Controller in any litigation concerning claims arising from this contract.

The disclosure of PD is a requirement that must be included in the contract. The DS is not obliged to provide its PD, however, if they were not provided, the contract in question could not be concluded.

No automated decision-making, including profiling, will take place in the processing of the PD. PD will be processed exclusively by the Controller's employees or by a person who processes personal data for the Controller data on the basis of a contract concluded with the Controller and will not be provided to other recipients.

In connection with the protection of Personal Data by the GDPR, the DS has the following rights:

Right of access to the PD

According to Article 15 of the GDPR, the DS has the right to obtain, upon request, confirmation from the Controller as to whether or not the PD are processed. In the event that PD are processed, the DS has the right to be informed of: the purpose and scope of the PD processing, the recipients, if any, to whom the PD has been or will be disclosed, the period for which the PD will be stored with the Controller, the possibility of exercising the right to request the Controller to rectify or erase PD, to restrict their processing, the right to object to the processing of PD and the right to lodge a complaint with the Office for Protection of Personal Data. The DS has the right to be informed of all available information about the source from which the PD was obtained, and information as to whether automated decision-making occurs as a result of the processing of PD, including profiling.

The DS has the right to be provided free of charge with a first copy of its processed PD. For further copies, the Controller shall be entitled to charge a reasonable fee corresponding to the administrative costs.

Right to rectification of inaccurate data

According to Article 16 of the GDPR, the DS has the right to rectification of inaccurate personal data as well as to completion of incomplete personal data concerning the DS.

Right to erasure of personal data

Pursuant to Article 17 GDPR, the DS has the right to erasure of personal data if the PD is no longer necessary for the purpose of fulfilling the contract, if he objects to the processing of the Personal Data on grounds of a particular situation, and if there is no longer no overriding legitimate reason for the processing of the Personal Data. The DS also has the right to erasure of the Personal Data, if the PD is unlawfully processed or if the PD must be erased to comply with a legal obligation to which the Controller is subject.

1. Limitation period for exercising the right to compensation for damage or other harm caused intentionally or the right to the recovery of unjust enrichment acquired intentionally.

Right to restriction of processing of personal data

According to Article 18 of the GDPR, the DS has the right to restrict the processing of PD , i.e., in particular the right to transfer the data to another system and to make them inaccessible to the public, and, for the data concerned, to make a record that their processing is subject to restriction, provided that it denies the accuracy of the PD, for the period necessary to enable the Controller to verify the accuracy of the PD, the processing of the PD is unlawful but the DS refuses to erase it and instead requests only a restriction on its use, the Controller no longer needs the PD for the purpose of performing the contract, but the PD will be required for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims, or, if the DS objects to the processing of the PD on grounds of a particular situation, and the PD are processed on the grounds of necessity for the purposes of the legitimate interests of the Controller or a third party, until it is verified that the legitimate interests of the Controller outweigh the legitimate interests of the DS.

Where the processing of PD has been restricted as set out above, the Controller is entitled to process the PD, except for their storage, only with the consent of the DS or for the establishment, exercise, or defence of legal claims, for the protection of the rights of another natural or legal person or for reasons of important public interest of the European Union or of a Member State.

Right to portability of personal data

According to Article 20 of the GDPR, the DS would have the right to retrieve from the Controller his/her personal data provided for the purpose of the performance of the contract, in a structured, commonly used, and machine-readable format, and to request their transfer to another controller, if the processing of the PD would be carried out by automated means and such transfer would be technically feasible. However, the controller does not process the PD in this case by automated means.

Right to object to processing of personal data

According to Article 21 of the GDPR, the DS has the right to object to the processing of PD on grounds relating to a particular situation if the PD would be processed for the purposes of the legitimate interests of the Controller or a third party. Submission of an objection will result in the Controller no longer being entitled to process the PD unless it can demonstrate that its interests (legitimate grounds for processing) override the fundamental rights and freedoms of the DS.

The right not to be subject to any decision based on automated processing, including profiling

According to Article 22 of the GDPR, the DS has the right not to be subject to any decision based on automated processing, including profiling. However, in the case of PD provided to the Controller, such decision-making will not occur.

Right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority

According to Article 77 of the GDPR, the DS has the right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority, i.e., the Office for the Protection of Personal Data, if he/she considers that there has been a breach of the GDPR in relation to the processing of his/her personal data.

The DS is entitled to exercise all of the above rights with the Controller either by sending a letter to its registered office for the attention of its statutory body or by e-mail to: recepce@barrandov.cz

The controller shall respond to the request of the DS in relation to the above rights or comply with the request without undue delay after the request has been received, but no later than 1 month after receipt of the request.
